

Where is good local news? I live near Portland, Oregon and after watching the news you'd think that the only newsworthy events in our area are out of ordinary weather events and overly dramatized human interest stories. There must be something more...